About Photography

Passion and profession come together at INSEARCH as long as photography is concerned. It is a great opportunity for us to exercise our passion as professionals. We consider photography as an art that captures the imagination to the reality and there are several ways of capturing various aspects of people, culture and nature.

A common person can see only a photograph as a piece of picture. A photograph can speak more on its creativity and beauty within.

We take up photographic assignments, provide training in photography and sell stock photos under our Insearch Stock brand name.

Is there a subject or location not covered in our stock collection? Is there something specific to your business you would like us to capture? We can shoot, edit and archive for you to just select and use these photos where you need.

Portrait Photography

Organizations are often in need of quality official portraits of their staff for either to display on website or publish in the documents. Making good portraits is an art though it looks rather easy.

We emphasize on all important aspect of good portraits such as displays the expression, personality, and mood of the subject, focusing the right areas, background and colours according to the organization's image.

We mix and use different approaches that can be taken in photographic portraiture — the constructionist, environmental, candid and creative approaches.

Photography Awards

Awards are acknowledgment of the skills of an individual in any field. These awards and recognition by different organizations show the passion, expertise and hard work of our work in photography.
